

What we know about migrants' health

Inform yourself before you judge

Are people who use public transport shared with migrants at high risk of getting tuberculosis?

No, they are not. Official sources report a very rare frequency of tuberculosis in migrants. It is usually transmitted after continuous and close contact: family members and sexual partners are at the highest risk.

CARE
Common Approach for Refugees and other migrants' health

This postcard is part of the project / joint action '717317 / CARE ' which has received funding from the European Union's Health Programme (2014-2020). The content of this postcard represents the views of the author only and is his/her sole responsibility; it can not be considered to reflect the views of the European Commission and/or the Consumers, Health, Agriculture and Food Executive Agency or any other body of the European Union. The European Commission and the Agency do not accept any responsibility for use that may be made of the information it contains.

Images in this postcard are used under license from Shutterstock.com.

---

---

---

---